Introduction

When researching what a Smart City was capable of, we narrowed our focus on a complicated institution: the judicial system. After researching secondary research into various issues like implicit bias, bail bonds, social justice, etc., we decided to interview people involved with the courts. Our interviews with four lawyers, three law students, two judges, and one clerk gave us the insights that judges are supported by court and law clerks, and communication is absolutely pivotal especially when it affects the livelihoods of the people.

Pursuing this relationship between judges and clerks, we decided to implement a communication and task management tool to alleviate processes and give more time and care to cases.

Court Clerk

David Hannigan

- + Inputs case filings into system
- + Manages dockets and cases for Judges
- + Instructs both parties about timings of court cases
- + Creates events (court trials, meetings, etc.) for Judge's calendar

David has been given a list of cases by the court coordinator assigned to Judge Emmanuel. In Astraia, he creates these cases.

The screenshot shows a dark-themed legal software interface. At the top left is a circular profile picture of a man in a suit, identified as "David H.". The top navigation bar includes a search bar and a bell icon. The main header says "DASHBOARD".

Schedule: Displays a daily calendar for Wednesday, December 20th. A large red block highlights the morning from 8:00 AM to 10:00 AM. Events listed include "Meeting with Judge" at 8:00 AM and "Reviewing notes for Johnson vs. Johnson II" at 8:30 AM.

Checklist: A list of tasks due today, each with a priority level (High, Med, Low) indicated by a colored button. Tasks include "Research references" (High), "Write ruling" (Med), "Email attorneys for availability to meet" (Low), "Revise the ruling and final statements" (Low), "Research on Westlaw" (Med), "Research references" (High), and "Bring snacks before trial starts" (Low).

Cases: A section titled "My Cases" lists four cases with their judges and clerks. The cases are: "Veronica B Jacobs vs. Leonard P Jacobs" (Judge: David H., Clerks: [empty]), "Vanessa Galindo vs. Conrad Galindo IV" (Judge: David H., Clerks: [empty]), "H Hoyumpa vs. Colleen M Hoyumpa" (Judge: David H., Clerks: [empty]), and "John M Donohue vs. Ross a Rodriguez Et Al" (Judge: David H., Clerks: [empty]).
